“ I sure do miss you grandpa. Life just isn't the same for me. Your unwavering wisdom, your stories, your smile, your hugs, just you! I mosey around almost lost all the time you'd be proud of me, though. Heck, you always were even when no one else was. I love you!

“ Grandpa always had something positive to say no matter how much I did wrong. He had a way with words that let me know that I am much more than I realize. He was convinced that I have a special purpose on this earth, though, sometimes I think he only wanted me to feel special. Either way, it worked. I always felt loved by him—he believed in his family and never gave up on any of us. Love ya gramps and I sure miss ya.

Let The Healing Waters Flow

*Reminiscing on the past
And the life was left behind
A tear builds with emotion
Never a chance to rewind*

*Move forward, just go on Press toward your set mark
Words so easy to speak
But seems no place to start*

*Precious memories play on and on Recorded day by day
Reminding the empty heart
That it's been shattered and tossed away*

*Tears now begin streaming Rolling steadily down the face
Little rivers to cleanse the pain
Washing the hurt away*

*So let the healing waters flow
Let them free the burdened soul
Let them nourish and heal the body
For newness to blossom and grow*

Open up the weary floodgates

*Let the healing waters flow
These are no signs of weakness
For you've carried a heavy load*

*Growth comes now upon you
Having endured the raging storm
It's time to fulfill your purpose
Predestined before you was born*

*Take a kneel, bow down to Him
Praise His glorious Name
It was Jesus Who cuddled you softly
When you couldn't go another day*

*It was He Who lay down His life
He let His Healing Waters Flow
Hanging upon the cross
Felt pain you could never know*

*Move forward, just go on
Is a task which can now be done
Walk the righteous path
Imputed by the Father's Son.*

“ Dolly and Family,
Iâ€™m so sorry for you and your familyâ€™s loss.
Mr. Hudson was a truly a man of many marvels, my all time favorite teacher, he will be greatly missed.
He always said (you Boothe kids got talent)
He believed in all of us even when some of the other teachers didnâ€™t. I will forever hold those words in my heart.
May your family find peace and comfort in all of the wonderful memories, and the amount of lives Mr Hudson has touched throughout his earthly life.
A GREAT MAN IS ONE WHO LEAVES OTHERS AT A LOSS
AFTER HE IS GONE
Much love to you all;
Jolene (Boothe) Moll and Family

“ I'm so sorry for the family's loss. Mr Hutson taught Art at MHHS when I went to school there. He was an awesome teacher. I had the opportunity over the years to see him at events at MHHS or even in town. He may not have remembered my name every time, but he remembered me as one of his students.
