“ I'M ALWAYS WATCHING

*I watch you as you smile
I Watch you as you cry
I even watch you sleep and
While you give your alibis*

*I watch you fight your battle
I watch you endure the pain
I even watch you fight the urge
To just give up and walk away*

*I watched you during birth
I watched you through the years
I watched you endure the storm
I watched you shed your tears*

*While I watched, I heard you beg
Lord, give me strength and guide my path
My heart is breaking and my life is wasted
But, I watched I lended not a helping hand*

*I watched you plead for courage
I watched you pray for a change
I watched you mourn your child
I only watched while you slipped away*

*I watched your life crumble
I even watched as you fell
Then, I watched as you stumbled
I watched were headed straight for a fiery hell*

*I watched you and I listened
I felt everything you were going through
I watched the signs and wonders*

I watched as I sent them all to you

*But you watched those around you
You watched blindly without a tearful cry
You heard not what the preacher preached
Although I sent those words to open up your eyes*

*I watched over and over as conviction never fell on you
I watched for countless hours
I watched you turn the other way
I watched your family watch you too*

*Child, I'm always watching over you.
I'm waiting for your cry
I'm watching and I'm listening
I'm waiting for your faith to release the prayer that saves your life*

*I watch you on your knees
I hear you asking amiss
I watch you as you tremble
I knew not those sounds you mumble and I never heard those words you hiss*

*I'll still be watching until you repent
I'll keep watching until you surrender
I'll watch your heart be broken
I'll watch you live and see you die buried beneath your willful sin*

*When do I come and save you
Will I just watch until life ends
No, I'll watch until you ask forgiveness
I'll watch until you let Jesus in*

*Yes, I'm always watching
Though I'll never force your hand
The choice is yours to be fruitful
Jesus died to save the world from sin*

Mark was a part of my class at Southside High School before I became a part of the class. He saw me on our Class of 76 page and that I lived in Missouri. I met he and Vicki in Cape one weekend when my daughter was picking up her boys after a weekend with their dad in Tennessee. One evening, my daughter Rebecca had a hydroplane situation on a Friday night and she was stuck in the median of I-55 and I called Mark and he and his brother came and helped them get to the Cowboy Church and helped them get back on the road. He came to New Haven to play music with Zach Mann and I got to see him there. I attended our last class reunion in Batesville and got to hang with he and Vicki there as well. Great people, great friend and hearts as big as Texas and always ready with a smile and a big hug. Man could he play music and could really light up a place that is for sure. I know in my heart he is reunited with the love of his life and his family that have gone before him. He explained loss to me this way, "I know that Vicki is going to watch over me until I join her, so in that situation, how could I be mad when I know I will spend my eternity with her" He was a wise man and his wonderful wife was a very wise lady. I know I will join them one day and you can bet his hug will be waiting on me. God Bless the Seabaugh family!

We will all miss Mark; he touched so many of our lives. He was like a big brother to me. We hung out and played music together in high school. We kept in touch via phone & FB regularly. I'm so sorry for the families loss. Sending love and deepest sympathies to the family.
