“ Ryder was in my in class, and often he was a calming presence when other classmates got a little rambunctious. He always struck me as an "old soul". Mostly real quiet and laid back, but also popular among his peers and up to a good joke at times. I will miss seeing him grow up and make his way in life, but he will be loved forever by everyone that surrounded him. Rest in peace Ryder and do some hunting "up there" while you're at it.
